There is an empty field on the property where Walking Tall is held. It took two canceled fundraisers to realize that the field was not perfect and yet it was an ideal place to host a yard sale fundraiser. What a creative way to let the community be a vital part of helping make it a success. They donated items, purchased items, and contributed funds.

Inspiring people to take a chance on a new idea for a fundraiser can be a bit of a challenge, especially with so much preparation and a short window to set up, sell, and cleanup. It was strenuous; however, with many mentors, young men, and families, it bestowed a rich reward. The young men also sold their handmade items, such as redwood planters, welded yard stakes, refurbished lawn equipment, writing pens, the golf stick, large wind chimes, musical instruments, and many other wooden items. Selling so many things enabled the young men to earn their fishing trip and help purchase supplies to continue building their skills.

Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding;
in all your ways submit to him,
and he will make your paths straight.

Proverbs 3:5-6
