For those who follow the efforts of Walking Tall

Walking Tall has made me a “jack of all trades,” and I mean all trades. When I started at Walking Tall, I was only working on the bus project. I learned a lot about how to strip paint, use tools, know all their different names and correct measurements. This project was the base for understanding the rest of what I learned much more quickly. Now, I can tear apart and reassemble small engines and am currently learning how to paint, and the list continues. Walking Tall's work ethic takes the cake for sure. I've learned how to clean my mess and do a job effectively, and it quickly made it much faster for me to get offered a management position in my current job, which unfortunately, I had to turn down because I'm only 16. Also, Walking Tall creates successful well-disciplined young men.

Jazz

Jazz has demonstrated Jr. Mentor qualities and is very helpful to his younger classmates.

For the Spirit God gave us does not make us timid, but gives us power, love and self-discipline.
2 Timothy 1:7
