I've known Tom since high school. He invited me to Walking Tall, and I was blown away by the facility. I have a heart for kids and love the mission here.

Everybody here makes me feel like I've found my herd. The mentors are smart and good at what they do; they all have something to offer. I also have something to give, like sharing some of my knowledge, which feels good.

It's a neat opportunity to talk to a young man who can shake your hand, look you in the eye, and have a real conversation.

Tony also attended SEMA, and says, "It's incredible; it is the world's fair of aftermarket automotive accessories and technology. My mind swirls with the options of art and poetry applied to making a vehicle move. In our 10-12 mile day walks, we observed the booths, multi-million dollar jaw-dropping cars, tools, toys, plus more information, media, and data overload than any one human could retain. What was also great about this trip was getting to know the guys and the good Lord keeping us safe. I'm ready; let's do it again! Tony

Be shepherds of God's flock that is under your care, watching over them—not because you must, but because you are willing, as God wants you to be; not pursuing dishonest gain, but eager to serve;

1 Peter 5:2
