Every year we are excited about our Walking Tall family Christmas party. This year we were blessed by a home group who offered selfless acts of kindness by serving at Walking Tall and giving donations to help offset our costs. One of our mentors cooked up amazing food, and it was a pleasure having Chick-fil-A supply us with their delicious Mac & cheese.

Below are a few comments after the party,

“Singing Christmas carols was a lot of fun, and I liked all the joy surrounding us at the party. We received these cool hats as a gift for being a part of Walking Tall this year, and they even thought of giving gifts to the younger children.”

“The best part of the Christmas party for me was being with my friends, the food, and the hayride, which I rode many times”.

“The Christmas party was a great time, and one of the greatest joys was seeing all the families getting together and building new relationships. One of the most remarkable opportunities at these events is the young men showing their siblings, parents, and grandparents what they have been working on at WT. I saw a lot of folks here that we don’t usually see during the week, so it’s an excellent opportunity to see families coming together, celebrating what we do out here, and looking at how these young men are growing. It was definitely worth the time, and I also enjoyed watching Bruce drive the tractor, giving hayrides.”

“My favorite thing at the Walking Tall Christmas party was the hayride and the bus ride. I liked how people were socializing and how good the food was, even though my sisters gobbled up a lot of the snacks.”

May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace as you trust in him, so that you may overflow with hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.
