A Good Work Ethic

When I first came to Walking Tall, I loved how welcoming everyone was; meeting new friends here has been great. The hospitality is awesome, and the food is excellent! Tom is one of my mentors in the welding shop, teaching me how to weld. "Tom said, Tristan has become a very good welder in a short amount of time!" Camden became a peer mentor to me, he has a good work ethic that I like, he is kind and has become a good friend to me. I love welding and see myself having a career in this trade someday.

Building a solid work ethic is following the lead of peers, mentors, and bosses with moral principles. It encompasses many traits: reliability, dependability, dedication, productivity, cooperation, character, integrity, sense of responsibility, emphasis on quality, discipline, teamwork, professionalism, and respectfulness. These traits greatly represent what Walking Tall instills in young men

Two are better than one, because they have a good return for their labor: If either of them falls down, one can help the other up. But pity anyone who falls and has no one to help them up.
Ecclesiastes 4:9-10
