Driving By Faith

Before coming to Walking Tall, my family lived in an RV for about two years. Life was hard for me and my family for several reasons. I didn't have my own space, and we didn't have a place to work on any projects. However, I was grateful we were not living in a tent; we are fortunate to live in a house now. One of my grandpas was a mechanic, and my other grandpa enjoys hot rod cars, which is what I would like to build in the future. He never had a son, and I make my grandpa proud when I do something kind for someone else.

When I first came to Walking Tall, I was glad everyone was super friendly because I tend to be quiet. Walking Tall has helped me to have more friends and not judge people. I have struggled with self-control issues, but I'm improving because I now realize my behavior was not good for my soul. When I was only twelve, I made a choice that I regret. That decision has brought struggles for me with Jesus. I have grown much more in the Lord, and now I like talking with Him.

Mentor Marty has become a friend of mine. He is a super nice guy and likes to work hard as I do. I've been able to work on small engines, and now I'm excited to learn about construction. In the future, I plan to be a mechanic and build show cars while living on the coast.

Nehemiah

Whoever conceals their sins does not prosper, but the one who confesses and renounces them finds mercy.

Proverbs 28:13
