God's Country

Walking Tall was invited to share about mentoring the next generation of young men in some other communities across the country. They took that as a sign to head out on a mission to help Godly men work with young men in their community

One of the many examples was a man leading a men's group in Indiana. He said, "We just wanted to share the Lord's work. Saturday morning, the group of men talked, trying to figure out an outreach program for some of the young men in our church. We are seeing an abundance of moms bringing their boys in and figuring out that there probably isn't a male present in the home. We want to address that because the boys we're looking at now are the men of the church's future. I have a little girl myself; eventually, these will be the boys interested in my daughter. I want them to be Godly men and recreate what a man is supposed to look like. We talk about this for the entire hour and a half of our meeting. When I came to church the next morning, Tom took the stage and began talking about Walking Tall. A lot of the men in the group were looking at me thinking, I had foreknowledge about his message, but I absolutely did not. It was clearly confirmation that the Lord's moving, and this is the direction He wants us to move. He wants us to start being the hands and the feet of Jesus. Not to just talk about it on Sunday mornings but to get out there and be examples for these young men to have somebody to talk to, somebody who cares about them, and is willing to teach them about being a man and help them succeed in life.

What a blessing that all of our hearts are aligning! The Lord's making a way. He's giving us examples, and wonderful people to share this and to get guidance from, and I'm excited to see where this goes."

The least of Tom and Judy's concerns on this trip was knowing that Walking Tall could operate without them. A big thank you to everyone who helped keep Walking Tall on point.

A most sincere Thank you to all who cared for Tom and Judy's every need on this trip!

God directs the steps we take and provides all our needs!

For where two or three gather in my name, there am I with them.

Matthew 18:20
