Critical Thinking

Some scientists argue that fidgeting is your body's way of trying to stay focused, reflecting a wandering mind, or can relieve feelings of stress. Mason wants to work on maturing because he feels his fidgeting annoys others. He also shares that kids in his school can be mean with their words. Mason comes from a split family and goes back and forth between his parents, but Mason is grateful for his family. He and his sister are close; they like to talk with one another.

The Walking Tall coin in his pocket helps him think things through. The results will help him from causing conflict and in turn benefit himself and others. Mason has been working in the wood-shop. He says Mentor Jeff is the expert on the wood lathe, and Mentor Paul has helped him build many writing pens, which makes him feel happy with these accomplishments. Paul's stories are something he has been enjoying at WT and how they teach him about the bible. Playing in the snow with his family is what he likes most, then riding dirt bikes, and in his spare time, he enjoys playing video games. At only twelve years old, Mason has plans to be an Air Traffic Controller or a Transportation Inspector. He also would like to get a degree for other options. He would tell others that Walking Tall has good food and many skills you can learn.

Mason

Show yourself in all respects to be a model of good works, and in your teaching show integrity, dignity, and sound speech that cannot be condemned, so that an opponent may be put to shame, having nothing evil to say about us.

Titus 2:7-8
