"Hands-On Experience for Me"

Lucean has visited several times during breaks because his involvement in other activities kept pulling him away. Since returning, he switched to a different day of the week and has noticed many new faces. He enjoys working in the woodshop, appreciating the intricacy and detail of each project. Precision and good math skills are essential, and a junior mentor named Matthew has been particularly helpful with this. Lucean is amazed at how precise you can get with the numbers.

His favorite part of Walking Tall is the mentors, especially Tom. He appreciates their hands-on approach to learning, as opposed to simply handing out workbooks and expecting students to know how to use the tools. He also values the way they connect with the young men participating in the program. Walking Tall has significantly helped him with his social anxiety.

Additionally, Lucean has learned more about Christianity than he ever knew before. His goal is to earn a degree in electrical or mechanical engineering, and he plans to attend college after graduating from high school.

In the same way, you who are younger, submit yourselves to your elders. All of you, clothe yourselves with humility toward one another, because, "God opposes the proud but shows favor to the humble." Humble yourselves, therefore, under God's mighty hand, that he may lift you up in due time. Cast all your anxiety on him because he cares for you. 1 Peter 5:5-7
