Unwavering Hands

Jonathan is 15 years old, very kind and has a fun knack for teasing both his peers and mentors. He enjoys playing the guitar and even built a ukulele with his mentor, Jeremy, last year. In his spare time, he likes riding his bike and reading. He is grateful for his four sisters, with whom he mostly gets along with, as well as for his parents and friends.

Recently, Jonathan has been working in the woodshop, creating writing pens. Junior Mentor Travis, whom Jonathan describes as very understanding and easy to work with, helped him craft a more complex pen that turned out really well. Jonathan is surrounded by new friends and is nurturing a deeper connection with his faith. He has developed valuable skills in gardening and woodworking, and he is eager to explore more opportunities on campus to further his growth. As a member of the Civil Air Patrol, he is gaining new skills and enriching his flying experience.

Jonathan shares, "At Walking Tall (WT), I have learned new skills and how to be more independent and confident in my abilities. Additionally, I want to be more humble, gain a better understanding of people, and grow in my faith."

After graduating from high school, he is likely to attend college, where he plans to study design and computer science. He also hopes to obtain his pilot's license. Walking Tall provides introductory skills for all of Jonathan's interests, and he hopes that by attending WT, he will be able to make a more informed decision about his future.

Our Friend Raiser campaign is currently underway, running until December 31st, with a goal of raising $150,000 to support our efforts beyond our regular monthly contributions. This funding plays a crucial role in our annual budget, enabling us to provide nourishing meals, essential supplies for our ten programs, and cover the overhead costs that keep our doors open.

So far, we have received $16,210 towards this goal, and we are incredibly grateful for every contribution. Your generosity helps us continue supporting our community works.

Thank you for standing with us as we work to make a positive impact together!
