David's Chair

Steve CEO of David's Chair. Asa passed away last year, but his spirit continues to inspire us all. His laughter, determination, smile, and joy, touched everyone who had the privilege of knowing him — and now, his chair will help other kids experience that same freedom and adventure.

Ethan and Levi had a great time at David's Chair event for the mobility-challenged community. After showcasing a video of Asa, and some of the rebuild, Steve Furst, the CEO, presented us with a plaque. I received an award for leading the project, but the credit truly belongs to the young men who did the hard work. It was meaningful for them to see their efforts make a real difference. The receiving boy's mother thanked me and appreciated the memorial on the back. We are ready for more chairs, repairs, and maintenance as needed. Mentor Kirk

Don who participated at David's Chair shared his thoughts to Walking Tall, "I believe David's Chair is an excellent organization that does remarkable work. It's fantastic that Walking Tall and David's Chair have partnered to provide mobility opportunities for individuals with mobility impairments. However, I think the most significant takeaway from the evening was when Steve, the founder and CEO of David's Chair, took the time to acknowledge Kirk's contributions to Asa's Chair and the efforts of Walking Tall. That recognition really stood out during the event.

Each of you should use whatever gift you have received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God's grace in its various forms. 1 Peter 4:10

Our Friend Raiser campaign is currently underway, running until December 31st, with a goal of raising $150,000 to support our efforts beyond our regular monthly contributions. This funding plays a crucial role in our annual budget, enabling us to provide nourishing meals, essential supplies for our ten programs, and cover the overhead costs that keep our doors open.

So far, we have received $26,810 towards this goal, and we are incredibly grateful for every contribution. Your generosity helps us continue supporting our community works.

Thank you for standing with us as we work to make a positive impact together!
