WALKING TALL CHRISTMAS PARTY

'Twas the night of the Christmas party for Walking Tall,
When families gathered for a fun activity, one and all.
The ceilings were twinkling with soft, low light,
Casting a warm, gentle glow through the night.

The tables were shimmering with lights, small and bright,
Sparkling decor made everything just right.
And three faithful couples, year after year,
Served with such joy from each volunteer.

The feast, oh the feast!—what a marvelous sight,
Three mentors had cooked it with heart and delight.
Homestyle and hearty, a scrumptious good meal,
With laughter and chatter, oh what a big deal.

Hot chocolate and cider, all steaming with spice,
Passed hand after hand, oh, it tasted so nice!
And many made their best sweets to share,
A potluck of desserts showing love everywhere.

But the hayride, oh my! was the hit of the night,
A tractor pulling riders through twinkling light.
No one wanted off but respectfully climbed down.
Then climb right back on for another go round.

With Christmas lights glowing and music so sweet,
The songs rang out as they moved to the beat.
Some rode for the first time, eyes wide with delight,
A magical moment they'd cherish that night.

The smiles, the laughter, the memories made,
Warming the hearts of all who had stayed.
And year after year, they return to this place,
Where Christmas shines bright on each happy face.

May this gathering continue for many a year,
bringing hope, joy, and fellowship—
And holiday cheer.

Merry Christmas

But the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid. I bring you good news that will cause great joy for all the people.

Luke 2:10
